Dear Mario, dear Marta,

We wish you both a happy Christmas and all the best for 1977.

I am still writing on my contribution to The Self and its Brain, but I am now nearing the end of it or so I hope. I am very, very tired, and I am looking forward to having done with it. On the other hand, a lot of urgent work has accumulated.

I do not know whether you would by now consider returning to the U.S. Anyway, I had a letter from Princeton from Professor David Lewis, enclosing an advertisement from "Jobs in Philosophy". (I did not know this existed.) In his letter he said "While it is earnest to appoint a beginning assistant professor..."; so I recommended a former doctoral student of mine (Berkson), however, they "would be glad to learn of candidates of any level". Deadline for applications 1. January 77.
I thought I would just draw your attention to it. They would give preference to someone specializing in the philosophy of physics; and there you are no doubt tops.

All the best wishes and the kindest regards

Yours ever

Karl and Hennie

Love Hennie,
